Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 11-13 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Dietz et al.

In regard to claims 11-13 and 16, the Dietz et al. reference discloses an “apparatus” (see Figure) comprising an “inert gas source” 18 (nitrogen), a “first coupling” 16 and “second coupling” 22 that are removably coupled at fitting 17 and capable of being in fluid communication with a coolant system by “mating” funnel 23 with air intake 24, as claimed.

In regard to claims 11-13, the method would be inherent during normal use and operation of the device. Further, the Examiner construes the term “coupling” or “mating” to be any type of contact funnel 23 has with the engine.

In regard to claim 11, the introductory statement of intended use and all other functional statements have been carefully considered but are deemed not to impose any structural limitations on the claims distinguishable over the Dietz et al. device which is further capable of purging the engine coolant system with inert gas. Whether the device was actually used in such a manner is dependent upon the performance or non-performance of a future act of use and not upon a particular structural relationship set forth in the claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 31 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Dietz et al. in view of Rogers et al.

The Dietz et al. reference discloses the invention substantially as claimed (discussed supra), but does not disclose using helium as an inert purging gas. However, the Rogers et al. reference discloses another purging system that uses "helium" 2B to purge the fuel system of an internal combustion engine. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to substitute a helium gas for the nitrogen gas in the Dietz et al. system in view of the teachings of the Rogers et al. reference wherein so doing would amount to mere substitution of one functional equivalent inert gas for another within the same art and the selection of any of these inert gases would work equally well in the Dietz et al. device.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP

Art Unit: 3751

§ 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 11-13 and 16 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
